8 RECOGNIZING WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH IN MARCH 2012.
9

10 WHEREAS, although women now outnumber men in 11 American colleges nationwide, the reversal of the gender gap
12 is a very recent phenomenon; the fight to learn was a valiant 13 struggle waged by many tenacious women in our country, across 14 years and across cultures; and

15 WHEREAS, after the American Revolution, the notion
16 of education as a safeguard for democracy created 17 opportunities for girls to gain a basic education; and

18 WHEREAS, pioneers of secondary education for young 19 women faced arguments that females were incapable of 20 intellectual development equal to men, or that they would be 21 harmed by striving for it; and

22 WHEREAS, this year, the theme of Women's History
23 Month is "Women's Education -- Women's Empowerment"; and

24 WHEREAS, women today currently earn 41 percent of 25 Ph.D.s in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics

1 fields, but make up only 28 percent of tenure-track faculty in 2 those fields; and

3 WHEREAS, on June 18, 1983, NASA launched the 4 Challenger for a six-day mission, and Dr. Sally Ride became 5 the first American woman in space; and

6 WHEREAS, in June 1987, Mae C. Jemison, M.D., who was 7 born in Decatur, Alabama, was selected for the NASA Astronaut
8 program and was the first African-American woman astronaut,
9 part of the crew of the Endeavour; Dr. Jemison was invaluable
10 with her background in both engineering and medical research, 11 along with work in computer programming, nuclear magnetic 12 resonance and spectroscopy, among other areas; and

13 WHEREAS, while we have made great strides toward 14 equality, we cannot rest until our mothers, sisters, and 15 daughters assume their rightful place as full participants in 16 a secure, prosperous, and just society; we must not forget the 17 young women who are still looking up to the sky and reaching 18 for the stars, and we must provide them with the tools they 19 need to fulfil their dreams by supporting educational 20 initiatives that will make a difference; and

21 WHEREAS, during Women's History Month, we are called 22 to remember and honor the pioneering legacy of our 23 grandmothers and great-grandmothers as revealed not only in 24 our museums and history books, but also in the fierce 25 determination and limitless potential of our daughters and 26 granddaughters; now therefore,

1 BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA, BOTH
2 HOUSES THEREOF CONCURRING, That we highlight the important
3 role women have played in shaping our great state and nation, 4 as we make headway on other crucial issues of our time, and we 5 remember the courageous vision championed by women of past 6 generations, as we are inspired to defend the dreams and 7 opportunities of those to come.

8 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this 9 resolution be provided for appropriate presentation and 10 display during the observance of Women's History Month in 11 March 2012.
